

The pandas-profiling library generates a short report about your data, including an overview (dataset information, variables types and distribution), correlations and sample. I used media data to see how salient were themes like police violence and racism in Portugal in 2016 and 2017. The data was provided by the Communication Sciences Lab at University Institute of Lisbon (LCC-IUL).